RECORD BOUNDARY

Selected sites and a qualified combined programme only

CLEANWISE supported a Northern Education Trust summer cleaning programme through the Principal Project & Management LTD instruction route. The wider programme is described as involving more than 20 schools; this case study intentionally uses only the supplied named site records and the clearly qualified combined material. The selected images show school environments including sanitary accommodation, teaching and support areas, kitchenettes, circulation routes and floor finishes. They are retained as practical visual evidence to support project review and the client's own handover process.

THORPE ACADEMY · COMPLETION RECORD

THE CLEANWISE STANDARD

Coordinate the programme around the actual school environment.

Useful multi-site work begins with a clear instruction, site-specific information and a handover record that is proportionate to the agreed scope.

A practical route from instruction to handover

COORDINATED DELIVERY

01 · CONFIRM

Review the instruction, accessible areas, timing, key site information and any practical restrictions before attendance.

02 · MOBILISE

Coordinate appropriate CLEANWISE cleaning resource through the network around the confirmed programme requirement.

03 · COMPLETE

Address agreed accessible areas and surface types within the instructed site scope, not a generic whole-site promise.

04 · RECORD

Retain practical completion evidence and report limitations, variations or access exceptions transparently.

MOUNT PELLON · SELECTED AFTER-WORKS
RECORD

Capacity on a multi-site programme is not a claim about unlimited availability. In this documented programme, it meant coordinating appropriate cleaning resource around a confirmed instruction, workable timing and the practical conditions at each selected school. CLEANWISE brought together the practical scope, appropriate resource, communication route and completion record. The work stayed tied to the stated site requirement, rather than treating different buildings as identical or promising that every school received the same scope or method.

Why a site-by-site method matters

EDUCATION ENVIRONMENTS NEED PRACTICAL CONTROL

A school programme can include a mix of learning areas, circulation spaces, sanitary accommodation, kitchenettes and support rooms. The practical clean is planned around the agreed accessible areas, timing, working conditions and any limits recorded with the site.

This is why CLEANWISE treats capacity as coordination rather than a one-size-fits-all promise. A reliable programme requires the instruction to be understood, appropriate resource to be organised, the work to remain tied to the stated scope and the handover record to reflect what was actually supplied.

Where the evidence is limited, the claim is limited too.

Farringdon is presented only as an after-works completion record. The Cumbria material is presented only as a combined four-school completion record. The separate Essa Primary access-exception attendance is not included as completed work.

FARRINGDON · AFTER-WORKS COMPLETION ONLY

WHY CLEANWISE IS WELL-PLACED

Programme coordination works best when scope, resource and evidence stay connected.

CLEANWISE brings those elements together for the instructed site requirement, while keeping the limits of each project record visible.
